FRESH! FRESH!! FRESH!!!
Lemons, oranges and bologna sausages will arrive at Booth's store on February 12th.

The sidewalk north of the Father McIntire residence has had a covering of good packing soil placed over the muddy parts.

If some of the sidewalks in this city had the scattering rocks removed, travelling after dark would be more of a pleasure.

The fancy dress ball last evening was a very successful affair. About 250 people were present and the display of costumes was fine.

We have had some beautiful mud again since the since the rains of Monday night. This morning a light fall of snow varied the program for a few minutes.

Mr. Snyder was up before Justice F. L. Daggett today on a charge of pilfering a pick handle. He plead guilty, asked the mercy of the court. Fine and costs amounted to $3.50.

Arch McNeil, Jr., Austin Carter and Harvey Pulsipher got themselves into a little scrape last night in trying to obtain a keg of wine at the residence of Hector Mcquarrie, and were up before Justice Daggett today. They were sentenced to ten days imprisonment. We believe this is their first offense, and trust it will not only be a lesson to themselves but also to many others to steer clear of such little games in the future.

John William, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Carpenter, died yesterday afternoon, Feb. 12, of pneumonia. Funeral at the residence today at 2 o'clock.

E. M. McArthur has been covering the muddy sidewalk south of his residence in this city, with a good coating of better soil, so that walking is now more agreeable.

The Y. L. M. I. A. operetta, which was to have been given at the theatre this evening, has been postponed one week. It promises to be a grand affair. The admission fee has been placed at 15 and 25 cents, which gives a better opportunity for everybody to attend.

The daily mail has been one day behind most of the week, caused by the bad roads between here and Milford. Some of the freight teams which usually make the trip from St. George to Milford and return in eight or nine days have been fifteen days in transit. Such conditions as these make one wish for a railroad or a steamboat line.

Lightning at Toquerville.

TOQUERVILLE, Feb. 7, 1897.

Editor UNION—

Shortly before 3 o'clock on the morning of the 6th we were aroused from our slumber by a heavy clap of thunder, accompanied by vivid lightning. The latter paid a visit to the home of Jos. Sylvester, coming down the chimney, going up the stovepipe, flashing around the room and setting the building on fire. The flames were soon extinguished. The oldest boy, Frank, had been sleeping where the lightning passed and which would undoubtedly have killed him, but that his mother had him move his bed that very night, and thus he was spared. The family fell to acknowledge Providence in their deliverance and escape. But little damage was done.
